

Grifted (贵福天地)

I want to show you a handicraft shop named “Grifted.” The shop owner is from the US, and she combines traditional Chinese culture and western styles to form her own unique items.

Here you can find gifts and souvenirs in many different styles.
The beauty with a cigarette is an old Shanghai lady. The guys on the sides come from a famous Peking Opera called “Farewell, My Concubine.”
The shop was supposed to be named “Gifted” but somehow it came back from the printer “Grifted.”

Their items include T-shirts, dolls, jewelry, puppets, and many other things.
